The senate adopted the provision by a margin of one vote. For it to become law, the house would have to retreat from its position. Yesterday it lined up against the president by 216 to 146.

The vote today was on whether to substitute the house bill for the senate bill. A vote on final passage then was in order.

Votes Down Recommittal Motion.

Quickly the house voted down Republican motion to send the measure back to the interstate commerce committee for striking out even the milder house substitute.

Senator Wheeler, (D-Mont.) leader in the senate fight for the "death sentence" clause, received word of the house vote while talking with President Roosevelt at ing with President Roosevell the White House on another subject. "We will fight it out in conference," the Montanan said. "If we can't get a decent bill out of conference I am in favor of letting ference I am in layor of letting it die and going to the country on the issue. This is my personal view. However, I think we can work out a satisfactory bill in conference."

Resolutions Adopted Memory I. N. Cerf by Chamber Commerce came

Resolutions of respect for the late I. N. Cerf were ordered prepared at the last meeting of the board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce on June 27. The resolutions as approved in time! form follows.

board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce on June 27. The resolutions as approved in final form follow? Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to call from this earth one of our distinguished members and friends, Mr. I. N. Cerf, who departed this life on June 21, 1935; be it therefore; Resolved, By the board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce that we express to his family and to the entire community the deep sorrow and loss which has come to all in the untimely passing of Mr. Cerf.

Mr. Cerf was for years, and at the time of his going, a valued member of this board, which gave us unusual opportunity to observe him and his love and loyalty for the town and community in which he was born; so loyal was he that he had no ambition except to live among and contribute his part to the moral and civic uplift of the community, and to share with it his seasoned judgment and advice. To have lived an honorable life in a community in which one was born; to prosper and be content and happy there; to enjoy the affection and respect of all and rever to vary in a consistent stand which he believed to be right and best, is, in our judgment, the essence of good citizenship, and Mr. Cerf in his life and character exemplified them all. His presence and advice will be sorely missed by us, but his wholesome influence will be lasting; and, even though for too short a season, we thank Providence that we were privileged to be his associates and to be his fellow citizens. Be it further Resolved, That these resolutions be sent to his family; that they be published in the local press and that a page be set aside in the minutes of this organization to one of our most useful and respected citizens.

LOWRY MARTIN, C. L. JESTER, J. N. EDENS,

We hereby certify that the above resolutions were duly adopted at a meeting of the board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of ors of the Corsicana Chamber Commerce held June 27, 1935.

Millions of Eyes Turned Toward Moses, Who Solved Problem of Delivering and Establishing a Nation—High Lights on One of History's Greatest Characters.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Not long ago an eminent newsper man in New York told me task for which he was provided to the more of a famous Jewish banker. He was curious to know the special reason for the occasion; and after dinner it appeared, when his host said, "I wish that in your articles you would cease to use the word 'Jew,' to which recent events have attached an unfortunate significance. Can't you, instead, call us "the people of Moses"; or 'the followers of Moses'; "

That request by a Jewish opportune time to do a supreme task for which he was providentially prepared. We cannot disentangle the personality of Moses from the purposes of God. For 'that matter, can we otherwise understand any life, except as it is related to Divine providence? "Every man's life a plan of God" used to be a favorite sermon theme; we could do with more of the same teaching now-adays.

Nothing lifts a life up to no-billty and heroism like the conviction that it has a work to do

For one, it implied that the return to Moses is a real force in the world today. What wonders would be wrought if all the power of Jewry were to be directed toward a re-emphasis upon the character and mission of Moses, and the laws he gave the world. Imagine the effect of a world-wide return to Mount Sinai and the Ten Commandments. Society's contemporary and many-faceted lawiessmandments. Society's contemporary and many-faceted lawless-ness would be curbed, and our vagrant human thinking would be channelled into order and

A Day With a Great One.

Opportunity, the millions of members of the Sunday school begin a course of biographical studies in Scripture by concentrating their thought upon Moses. All over the continent—indeed, all over the world—uncounted manufactors. myriads of persons, young and old, will have their attention fixadd, will have their attention fixed upon the great Hebrew nationmaker and law-giver. Little children will learn the story of his rescue from the rushes as a babe by the Egyptian princess; and some of the other colorful facidents in a spectacular career. Youth will gather inspiration for heroic and patriotic service of their time. Adults will discuss the applicability of the laws of Moses to our own era. From this surge of interest in Moses there may flow incalculable consequences.

Nobody doubt the greatness of Moses. He is one of the few ecommanding figures of the ages. Probably only one surpasses him in continuing influence. His leadership, which created history's longest-enduring nation out of a

Personalities give significance to places. I am one of the few who are familiar with all the lens amidst which Moses lived. Know Egypt and the Nile from which he was drawn as a babe; and I am familiar with the great and terrible wilderness of a flinty Sinai Penninsula, where he got his training. WOULD PLACE CONTROL OF DEPOSIT INCREASES LARG-ER IN SMALL BANKS THAN IN LARGER ONES

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(P)—
A growth of $4,000,000,000 in federal reserve member bank deposits was mentioned today by the federal reserve board as an outstanding development of 1934. the senate banking committee today gave speedy approval to the revised administration banking bill placing control of credit in a committee of seven reserve board members and five representatives of the 12 reserve.

"Country banks, however, having no direct access to the open market, held a larger proportion of their new deposits as idle balances, while city banks invested a somewhat larger proportion of the increase in their deposits in government securities and openmarket paper."

The books and that bank sugar

The board said that bank suspensions during the year were fewer than in any year since 1920. They numbered 57 licensed banks with deposits of $36,793,000. banks with deposits of $38,793,000. Only one was a member of the reserve system. The board also reported that at the end of 1934 only 160 banks closed during the 1933 bank holiday remained unlicensed. Nine hundred twenty others had been placed in liquidation or receivership during the year.

The bill sets up an independent reserve board of seven members, with the secretary of the treasury and comptroller of the currency to lose their ex officio membership in 90 days. Legislators predicted the measure would receive the unanimous endorsement of the full senate banking committee quickly after perhaps a few slight modifications agreeable to the sub-committee that worked ten weeks in stdying and revising the legislation. The sub-committee is headed by Senator vising the legislation. The sub-committee is headed by Senator Glass (D-Va). Chairman Fletcher (D-Va) of ders was recaptured.

More than a score of guards augmented by officers from surrounding towns, spread into the rolling country near the reformatory at daylight under orders to "beat the bushes" for Darrell Paul Jones, suspected ringleader of the attempted break, believed to be wounded.

Largest Attempted Break. It was the largest break ever attempted at the reformatory here, superintendent Miles said. The institution was built in 1922 to accommodate youthful prisoners convicted of less serious

Cuard Ralph Wright of Ingalls, who from his post in a high tower discovered the break as tower discovered the break as the quartet scaled a six-foot fire wall atop the administration building, stopped the rush of three of them. He fired from a distance of 20 yards after they disregarded his shouted warnings

Wright said he believed Wright said he believed one shot struck Jones. The first blast from the guard's riot gun knocked Dyer off the wall and his body fell to the ground.

McAllister, tumbled six feet to the roof of the building, shot in the back and shoulders and bleeding internally.

Sanders dropped behind the fire wall, but Jones dashed on over the roof, dropped to the ground and ran.

Three young surivors of an Atlantic gale that cost the lives of their companions—a. Boston yachtsman and his two sons who sought to save him—took refuge in port to-day, still suffering from their experiences.

Their 54-foot ketch Hamrah, her rigging and sails damaged, rode safely off the Royal Cape Breton Yacht club, but her 21-year-old navigator, Charles Tillinghast of Providence, R. I. said it might be several days before they could put to sea again, Tillinghast and his two companions, Roger Weed, 25, and Sheldon Ware, 19, both of Böston, brought their crippled craft into Sydney harbor yesterday and reported that Robert Ames, 55, Boston realty broker and sportsman, had been washed overboard by a mountainous wave. His sons, Richard, 23, and Harry, 20, were lost in a vain attempt to rescue him.

The Hamrah, one of seven yachts that left Newport, R. I., June 8, in a trans-Atlantic race to Bergen, Norway, was about 600 miles east of Newfoundland when she encountered a northeast gale on June 19.

ALLOTMENT OF TWO BILLIONS PLANNED FOR CWA PROJECTS

HUGE SUM WOULD BE SPENT WORK ALONG OLD RELIEF LINES BY HOPKINS

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(AP)—
There are indications that the Roosevelt administration may allot possibly as much as $2,000,000,000 for jobs resembling the old CWA projects in certain respects.
The first step in this policy was taken yesterday. Declaring they wanted to put a substantial" number of persons to work this month, officials disclosed that the federal allotment board had recommended to the President that $142,245,875 be turned over to Harry L. Hopkins to be spent by his works progress administrators in three states, New York City and the District of Columbia.

The projects—small, with low material costs—would be selected material costs—would be selected locally. Prior approval from Washington would not be necessary. The old civil works administration followed this procedure.

Speedy presidential approval of this recommendation was expected. It was estimated by officials that the $142,000,000 allotates with the second contract would necessary the second cost of the secon ment would provide jobs for 169,000 for a full year at an average cost of $812 per person, including cost of $812 per person, including wages, materials and equipment. Hopkins, destined evidently to direct a major portion of the whole $4,880,000,000 work relief program, headed the old CWA and spent nearly $1,000,000,000 in five months on projects which were criticized by some republicans and others as mere "leaf-raking." Advocates of CWA defended its methods as necessary and contended that it was showand contended that it was show

Hopkins' aides, not denying that possibly as much as $2,000,000,000 would be used on the small projects, contended, however, that they would be more

The quotas recommended yesterday were: New York City, $81,007,810; District of Columbia, $2,017,043; Alabama, $10,501,346; Georgia, $10,556,600; Indiana, $38,162,973.

an hour—or an afternoon!

Few of us live by the sea. But the treatment is to be had just the same. Fill a basin with water, throw into it a good sized handful of sea salt and take it outdoors with you. Take a small sponge, and dip it into the salt water, then wet your face and chest, arms and legs, and dry off in the sun. As you dry, wet the skin again, and except for the exercise of swimming, the girl of the beach has no advantage over you. The salt, the heat, the healing rays of the summer sun, will make your skin lovely to look at, clear, and healthy, and the good looks and health will carry on well into the winter. Keep this up until you have a deep tan.

It is hard to lie on your face and wet your back. In fact, I'd say it is impressible. Sitting we not sufficiently and the other oil from almons is a profit of bitter almonds." # BAR PRESIDENT IN PLEA PROFESSIONAL CONSCIOUSNESS GOAD

ASSERTS LIFE OF ASSOCIA-TION INDICATES VALUE; WOULD BAN POLITICS

HOUSTON, July 4.—(F)—H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo pleaded for "professional consciousness" as he delivered the president's annual address today to the Texas Bar Association.

"My appeal to the rank and file of the bar association," Pipkin said, "is that we shall, under the goad of professional conscious-ness, break the bonds of lethargy and indifference, and that with renewed inspiration and determination we shall set ourselves to the serious task of building up a great professional organization. The time has passed that nondescript lawyers, without profes-sional pride or affiliation, can place before us barriers that we cannot break down and override in our forward progress."

Calles Reported Married For Third Time at Culiacan

MEXICO CITY, July 4.—(P)—
Private advices from Culiacan and today that former President Plutarco Elias Calles has been married for the third time.

The messages, received by an associate of the one-time "strong man" of Mexican politics, did not tell the name of the bride, but said she was a relative of Governor Manuel Paez of the state of Sinaloa, of which Culiacan is the capital. Paez has three sisters and a daughter.

The former president, more than 60 years old, retired to Sinaloa after submitting to President Lazaro Cardenas in a recent political contest.

Calles' first wife, Natalia Chacon de Calles, left eight children when she died, and he had two sons by his second wife. Leonor Llorente de Calles, who died three years ago.

Emhouse.

One should use clean, fresh and sound vegetables, to obtain the best result from home canning, Miss Ruth McNabb, home demonstration agent, told the ladies of the Emhouse Club at the home of Mrs. C. E. Earl June 25.

All products, continued Miss McNabb, should be gathered at the proper stage of maturity. Beans should be young and tender. Beets should be small and a deep red. Corn should be just beyond the milk stage. Corn, after it has passed this stage, is classed as a grain.

Twenty-two members answered the roll call. Delicious refreshments of iced lemonade and cookies were served to the members.
